

Every horse and rider in your barn checked and ready before entries close.

Riders register themselves and upload their own cards. Equine Entry checks each horse and rider against the show's requirements, lists only the classes the pair actually qualifies for, and builds the packet. You review, pick classes and submit — instead of chasing paperwork.

01 A barn that fills itself

- Send riders your invite link; they sign up, upload cards and ask to join. You accept or decline from the Home tab. If a requested horse is already in your barn under another owner, you are warned.
- Horses already in the database are filled in automatically when added: registration number, breed, sex, foaling date, color, sire and dam — matched to the official AHA record.
- Per horse you set discipline, programs, owner, who rides it, "in hand only", and upload the Coggins certificate and Rhino record (only the barn can).
- Family ties for owner classes are a tick-box per person.

02 Readiness at a glance

Clear

Expiring — within 45 days of the show

Not ready

- One row per horse and rider: Membership · Safe Sport · Coggins · Rhino · Microchip.
- Dates are checked against the show's dates, not today's — an expiring card is caught before you drive to the show.
- Home shows days until entries close, counts of clear / expiring / not ready, and a "Do these today" list.

03 Class selection that knows the rule book

- Pick the show (Scottsdale and Region 7 pinned; all other regionals listed), the horse, then who will show it. Only classes the pair qualifies for are offered.
- Checks applied: breed, discipline, program nomination (Sweepstakes, Scottsdale Signature, AWP, AHPA, Medallion), horse age, amateur or professional status, owner or family (AR110.4), owner-of-record transfer, gender, and competition age as of December 1 (AR110.6).
- Need something unusual? "Add a class that is not listed" — it is kept, but clearly marked as added by hand and not checked against the prize list.
- A running total of fees as you add classes. Scottsdale and Region 7 carry their full class catalogues; Region 7 fees are itemized.

04 Entry forms and the packet

- Cost per show including stalls and tack stalls; a preview of the official entry form with signature lines; a printable verification record showing what was checked and where each fact came from.
- Barn summary: print, download CSV, and mark as submitted — time-stamped on the server, so there is no argument later about when.
- After submission: a list of every change since, a one-click change notice emailed to the show office, “mark changes as sent”, and a place to record a refusal.

05 Verify — when sources disagree

- A queue of records where your barn's entry, the rider's card and the registry differ.
- Accept the source's value with one click, or dispute it with a reason — the show office then sees it as a trainer override, in your words.
- A record locks once every source agrees, and unlocks again if the rider changes a name, date of birth or USEF number.

06 Calendar and activity

- Set the day, time and ring for each class; every rider in the barn sees it on their own calendar.
- Activity: a field-level history of every change — who, when, from what, to what — downloadable as CSV.

07 The horse database, for prospects as well as your barn

760,000+

horses with registration facts

2.0 million

show-result lines, class by class

Nightly

Hall of Champions recount with an independent check

- Any horse's registration, three-generation pedigree, foals, owner history, breeder and complete show record.
- Hall of Champions for sires, dams, grandsires, breeders and owners; Hall of Fame Riders by AHA points — each line can be recomputed in front of a client with “Show the work”.
- Owner and breeder pages: owns now, bred, owned before.

Getting started

1. equineentry.com → Sign up → Trainer, name your barn.
2. Copy your invite link from the Barn tab and send it to your riders.
3. Accept join requests as they arrive; upload Coggins and Rhino records for each horse.
4. Open Readiness, fix what's red, pick classes, submit the packet.
